

Oil Heat Without Smoke

No matter how sensitive your olfactory nerves may be, or under what working conditions you encounter the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

you'll not detect the slightest odor of smoke.

The Perfection Oil Heater neither smokes nor diffuses odor. The new

Automatic Smokeless Device

positively prevents both. Repeated tests during its incipency and development, innumerable trials after it had been pronounced perfect by the inventor, demonstrated its utility and sure effectiveness.

The wick cannot be turned up beyond the point of its greatest effectiveness. It locks automatically and thus secures the greatest heat-yielding flame without a sign of smoke or smell. Removed in an instant for cleaning.

Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—damper top—cool handle—oil indicator. Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

TOOTH HINTS

"When ought we to go the Dentist?"

Many think it unnecessary to devote particular attention to the teeth until the mouth is affected by broken or decayed teeth. Others give their teeth no attention until pain compels them. Every one who thinks a moment on the subject knows that we cannot masticate our food satisfactorily. If one of the teeth is tender, inflamed or other wise out of order, and that if this be the case, the mouth requires immediate attention.

FATALLY BURNED.

Charred Remains of Sawmill man Found.

The charred remains of Mr. William Butler were found at his sawmill, a few miles north of Crofton Saturday evening by one of his sons. Mr. Butler and his two sons operated a sawmill and occupied a small house near by. The sons had been away from home a few days, and on returning found that their father had been burned to death during their absence. The victim of the flames was about 60 years old and had been afflicted with paralysis of the lower limbs for several years.

WIELDED BOTTLE

And One Man Sustained Scalp Wound.

A difficulty occurred among some of the men in the railroad camp north of town Sunday night and one man was struck on the head with a beer bottle, making a painful, though not serious wound. The trouble occurred near the Madisonville crossing. A physician from this city went out and dressed the wound of the injured man. No arrests have been made.

Everybody's.

Everybody's January number opens with a poem "America," by Herbert Kaufman, of the type that our British cousins are used to calling "brag." Of course, when they make this accusation against us, they forget their own song, "Rule Britannia." And anyway, all prejudice aside, even those aforesaid cousins could hardly refuse to admit that if we must brag, it were well that we bragged in the lordly rhythm of the new "America."

This number is the Christmas edition, and the publishers announce that hereafter they will celebrate the Yule tide along about the end of December, instead of November, as has been the general magazine custom. And the holiday spirit takes precedence throughout the publication, with fun as the dominant note
